LAUNCH OF THE JENNY SKYLARK

ON a hot and sunny 17th April, a large crowd gathered on the promenade and beach for the launch of Rowporty's newly-built racing skiff Jenny Skylark.

After speeches on the 'cakestand' by the three Rowporty founders, the Royal West of Scotland amateur boat club presented them with a racing prize cup from their own trophy cabinet. It had belonged to the original Portobello rowing clubs and will be competed for again at the new club's regatta in July.

Then, in front of the Portobello Sailing and Kayaking Club at the bottom of Bath Street, the skiff headed down to the water. She was formally named Jenny Skylark, blessed with rum, and launched into a skiff Icebreaker and others were waiting for her. Jenny Skylark was named after Portobello's old Skylark, the local pleasure boat which many local residents still remember fondly.

Skiffs from Cockenzie, Port Seton and Newhaven were also out on the water, alongside a 100 year old, but still seaworthy, jolly boat, gifted to Rowporty by Broughty Ferry Rowing club the week before; the historic currach from Tollcross; and a sailing skiff called Scratch, built single-handedly by another Rowporty member.

A race was held for all the boats for the prize of a large handmade Easter egg, gifted to Rowporty by The Chococnvgt"Vtgg"kp"DtwpuvŁgnf0" "Vjg" pace was fast and furious and it seemed only fair that Jenny Skylark yqp" jgt" Łtuv" gxgt" race.

Portobello Sailing and Kayaking Club will host Rowporty's second Rowing Regatta on Saturday 30th and Sunday 31st July. Entry is free, and there will be entertainment and food stalls. Bring a picnic, camera and bucket and spade, and cheer the competitors to victory, especially our own Icebreaker and Jenny Skylark.

Teams from all over Scotland will be competing: from Achiltibuie, North Berwick, Port Seton and Cockenzie, who took part last year, but also new skiffs recently completed by their community groups.

Races will start at noon on Saturday, with prize-giving at 5pm, and Sunday morning will be for fun races. For more information, photos and footage visit www.rowporty.org.uk

BIG BEACH BUSK IS BACK

BUSKERS will be back in August for another day of music and entertainment on Portobello Prom. There's no need for tickets or booking; anyone who wants to take part should just turn up. There are no Headliners. Everyone's top of the bill and everyone's welcome, y jgvjgt" vjg{øtg" c" Łtg" gcvkpi" lwi-gler, guitar player or a full brass band.

Last year more than 100 buskers entertained over 1000 people. If you missed it, make a point of being down on the Prom from lunchtime on 27th August for some fantastic music and performance.

For more information look up The Edinburgh Big Beach Busk on Facebook.

PORTOBELLO ARCHITECTURE HERITAGE TRAIL

PORTOBELLO Heritage Trust and Portobello Amenity Society have just published a revised edition of the Portobello Architecture Heritage Trail. Łtuv" rwdnkujgf" d{ "RCU" in 1992.

The revised 12-sided ngc Łgv." fqwdng" vjg" uklg" qh" the original, guides you on a walking tour, indicating places of architectural and/or historical interest. It contains a brief history of Portobello, a map of the route, and many colour photographs alongside a paragraph detailing each place of interest. New places have been included, such as the Adelphi area and the Coade Stone Pillars in the community garden on the Promenade. The trail itself is about 1.7 miles in length and should take about 1-1½ hours to complete.

Vjg" ngc Łgv." y jke j "ku" htgg." was funded by Portobello and Craigmillar Neighbourhood Partnership Community

STORM-RAVAGED BEACH RESTORED

AN operation to move thousands of tons of sand from the west and middle of Portobello beach eastwards was completed on 9th April, just in time for hundreds of people to enjoy the two hot and sunny weekends that followed.

The beach is a vital part of our sea defences and the sand at the east end which was severely depleted in the March storms last year, is now back to something approaching 1988 levels.

Local residents' next priority will be the rebuilding of the eastern-most gabion groyne which was partly demolished in the storm. Cllr Maureen Child tells us that the work could possibly dg" fqqg"kp" vj ku" Łpcpekcn" { gct0

ON THE BEAT

AS THE summer fast approaches and with it the school holidays, lighter evenings and better weather, we tend to see a rise in certain types of crime, especially anti-social behaviour and vandalism.

The increase in youth related calls is often the result of underage drinking. The Safer Neighbourhoods (SN) officers are only too aware of this and have begun working with off-sales staff to remind them of their responsibilities with regard to the sale of alcohol, with a focus on 'proxy buying' by adults, in an attempt to combat such incidents.

Cu"uwvca."y jgtg"cr rtqrktcvg"qhŁegt u"y km"dg"uvqr r kpi"cpf"ugte j kpi" youths believed to be in possession of tobacco or alcohol. When found, uwe j"kv g o u"y km"dg"eqpŁuecvgf"cpf."y jgp"cr rtqrktcvg."rgtuqu"o c {"dg" reported.

The annual summer Promenade initiative, which commenced on the 3rd June, will also focus on anti-social behaviour, to allow local residents and visitors to enjoy the amenity of the Promenade and beach throughout the summer.

Identity bracelets will again be available in an attempt to keep young children safe and reunite them quickly with their parent, guardian, carer or friends, should they become separated.

Crimestoppers and Lothian and Borders Police have joined forces to promote a service for 11-16 year olds, called Fearless, which aims to share information about crime in their area. The information received is taken seriously and can be given anonymously. Lothian and Borders Police is a great success in other areas. Information can be found on the Fearless.org website.

WE would like to thank everyone who made our World Book Night event on 5th March such a resounding success. The live music was excellent and everyone, including a number of local authors who were specially invited, seemed to enjoy the informal atmosphere. While adults chatted about the books, children were kept entertained by a giant snakes and ladders set. Although we had planned to give away only 96 books, people arrived with their own and over 130 books

Our Gallery is fully booked over the summer. Amnesty International will be marking their 50th Anniversary with a display from 26th July, while Musselburgh Camera Club will display their work from 1st August. Contact us if you would like to take advantage of our free gallery space.

Are you elderly or disabled, love reading but struggle to get into the library? Do you know someone who is? We might be able to help with this. We have a fortnightly service that will bus you into the library for books, a cup of tea, and a chat. We can also deliver books to your home. If you are interested, give us a ring on 529 5598.

On 5th July, In a Dry Season by Peter Robinson
 On 2nd August, A Tale Etched In Blood And Hard Black Pencil by Christopher Brookmyre.

All are welcome. The books are available from the library. If you need any further information please ask our staff.

The Teenage Book Group meets on the last Thursday of every month. If you need any more information ask staff for details or check the Portobello Library section of www.funstufftodo.org.uk

SAVE WASTE, SAVE MONEY

A WASTE of food is a waste of money and bad for the environment. Yet, according to the campaign group Love Food Hate Waste, the amount of food waste generated in the UK is expected to increase as food prices rise, unless we all buy only as much as we will eat.

The Scottish Government has set a target to give all households a food waste collection for recycling and composting by 2013 and the City of Edinburgh Council introduced a pilot scheme in April to test the viability of such a service. Almost 15,000 households are receiving a weekly kerbside collection, while communal bins are being tested. If the service is evaluated, the service will be rolled out across the city.

The food waste collected will be transported to Cumbernauld to make biofertiliser and compost, and to generate biogas - a renewable energy source.

It is bad for the environment, as oil-based fertilizers and pesticides, which produce green-house gases in their manufacture, are used in non-organic farming. Farm machinery used in ploughing, spraying and harvesting all depends on oil. Then there is the environmental cost of transporting, processing and packaging food - then disposing of the packing.

The Council say they work closely with organisations such as ZeroWaste Scotland to promote campaigns for reducing food waste, and the food recycling bins.

There are lots of useful tips, however, including recipes for using leftovers and other information, on the websites: www.changeworks.org.uk/kitchencanny and on www.lovefoodhatewaste.com which also explains the difference between 'Best before' and 'Use by' labels - click on the 'About food waste' tab.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL ENGAGEMENT

PORTOBELLO Community Council is aiming to increase its engagement with the public and, thanks to two grants from the Neighbourhood Partnership, has been able to set up important new sources of information about its activities: a dedicated area of Portobello Library and a website.

In the clearly marked library area, minutes and agendas as well as an information board about the community council and how to contact us is clearly displayed. City Council information, publications and information relating to any consultations or major planning applications will be displayed as they arise. You can leave comments or suggestions in the suggestions box.

The website also has contact details, a contact facility, copies of agendas, minutes and correspondence. There are links and contact details for community council member groups, other local groups, Police, the Council and many other organisations. See www.portobellocc.org

With these new resources, we hope most people will be able to learn more about who we are and what we do. Of course, one of the best ways is to come along to one of our monthly meetings, held on the last Monday of every month at 7.30 pm (July and December excepted) in the Baptist Church hall, 185 Portobello High Street. All members of the public are welcome.

TWO WEDDINGS AND A TENT "KEEP calm and carry on" was my motto over recent weeks when the school calendar had groaned with an abundance of high-days and holidays, so much so that I had exhausted every children-friendly activity known to woman. Even I was asking "what shall we do now?" So an invitation to go camping on the weekend of the Royal Wedding for my daughter and me was welcomed with open arms.

We managed to catch glimpses of the wedding through armfuls of tent, sleeping bags, kettles and the kitchen sink as we packed, and oohed and aahed at 'The Dress' before jumping in the car for an hour's drive to Northumberland.

Our campsite overlooked Holy Island and was perfectly peaceful, with not a street party in sight and, after pitching our tent, we joined our fellow campers for a wedding day barbecue, a tin of curry with rice and a glass or three of red wine.

It might have been a lovely day and a balmy evening, but six layers of clothing and several blankets didn't cut it with the cold that night. We crawled out of our tents the next morning just as the sun had risen and eventually thawed out after several cups of hot chocolate.

It was a glorious day and a visit to the famous gardens at Alnwick Castle proved a hit with everybody. We had just started our picnic, when we heard the skirl o' the pipes and a bridal party appeared from behind the rose garden, complete with wedding guests in outrageous hats, with plenty of champagne. We settled down with our sandwiches to discretely watch the live action. Who needed a Royal Wedding?

GROWING ORGANIC

with Susan Burns

AS SPRING moves into summer herbaceous borders become very full, so do two jobs at the same time. First, and especially before going on holiday, deadhead all annuals and tender perennials such as sweetpeas, marigolds and pelargoniums, and cut back perennials such as phlox and livingstone daisies by a third. Deadheading gpeqwtcigu"pgy" lqygtu"cpf" ewvvpki" dcem" rgtgppkcnu" ogcpu"nguu" staking is required. This is called the Chelsea Chop as it's done while the Show is on, but in Scotland we can do it a bit later, especially if we have good weather early on.

While going through the borders I place wetted, folded tabloids or quartered broadsheets, a few centimetres thick, as stepping stones. They are about the right size for stepping on, get dirty over the season and disappear under the foliage as they rot away. During the winter what's left can be composted.

Rnceg"cp" qnf" dncpmgv"qt" vqy gnu" qp" c" lcv" ctgc." rww" cm" eqpvckperised plants on it and keep it wetted. You then have all the pots in one place for watering, and any excess drains onto the blanket, acting as a reservoir. I've even had annuals in their containers, which otherwise may not have survived the odd warm spell, rooting into the blanket. Ask a gardening neighbour to keep it wet for you when you're away.

If your tomatoes are going a bit yellow between the veins, give them a solution of Epsom Salts (6 teaspoons in a 2 gallon bucket). For an organic feed during the summer, if you haven't got around to making comfrey/nettle tea, then place leaves of comfrey on the compost next to the tomatoes, potatoes, or anything that's greedy and needs a boost, and let it rot away.

Grass cuttings are too valuable to be binned. Use them as a mulch around new plants, or potatoes where they are believed to reduce eelworm damage.

If you indulge in a few new plants, whether tender perennials or a new shrub, try to take a few cuttings. A pot with some gritty sand, kept moist and in a warm place, will house a few cuttings of lavender, bacopa, box, etc., which will make big enough plants to plant out next year, after some protection over the winter.

We are opening our garden at 39 Nantwich Drive again this year, on Saturday and Sunday, 6th and 7th August, from 2-5pm. Entrance £1, concessions 50p. Teas, 20p. All proceeds to the charity Garden Organic.

DESPITE recent funding disappointments, PEDAL continues to go from strength to strength - progressing existing projects, initiating new ones and attracting more and more local people. The loss of core funding will impact on what we can do in the short term, but PEDAL continue to have ambitious plans to help Porty become more sustainable.

PEDAL has been involved in exciting discussions with other transition groups across the city, plus the City Council, regarding a local currency. This might be Edinburgh-wide but with a local version - The Porty Pound! - available. The aim is to strengthen the local economy by keeping more money circulating in Porty.

SLEEPLESS 'TIL SEATTLE

ON 37th July, a cycle across the United States, starting just south of Boston at Plymouth Rock, where the Pilgrim Fathers landed from the ship the Mayflower in 1620. The cycle will be a two-day event, with the first day starting at 6.22am and the second day starting at 6.22am. The cycle will be a two-day event, with the first day starting at 6.22am and the second day starting at 6.22am.

Upon historic sites and events such as the Erie Canal, Niagara Falls, Mount Rushmore, the Rocky Mountains and one of the most famous battle grounds of the Native American, Little Big Horn.

The cycle, 'Sleepless 'til Seattle', came about through Graham's inherent fear of sleeping wild in a tent in grizzly bear country, especially in Glacier National Park in Montana, the bear's stronghold in the United States.

Graham is due back in Scotland, bears permitting, in October. The cycle will be a two-day event, with the first day starting at 6.22am and the second day starting at 6.22am.

You can follow his progress on www.sleeplesstilleattle.com which he hopes to update every few weeks, with occasional short updates.

HELP FOR HEROES

FOUR close friends from Portobello and Musselburgh, Garreth Lodge, Ross Menzies, Michael Thomas and Gregg Maxwell, seen above, ran in the Edinburgh Marathon on 22nd May to help raise money for Help for Heroes, a charity that takes care of wounded service men and women when they return from active duty. Between them they raised over £2000.

A two-hour Zumbathon for the charity at Portobello High School, a collection was made to persuade the Marathon men to give a special performance. "When we took to the stage, the skill level was high. We were very happy to be there and to support the charity." The Zumbathon was held at Portobello High School on 22nd May.

100th BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Mrs Cathy Whittaker celebrated her 100th birthday on 10th April. Cathy was born in Co Durham and has lived in Portobello for 75 years, on the Promenade. She has a daughter, four grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. Cathy was a member of the Salvation Army Home League for many years, and is seen here cutting her birthday cake at a special tea party organised by other members at the Army's meeting hall in Bath Street.

AMNESTY LOCAL NEWS

THE Group's involvement in 'Amnesty at 50' celebrations begins in June with three weeks of displays in Portobello Library featuring, in sequence: Women's Rights are Human Rights; Heroes and Heroines; Burma. The displays will be available.

A street stall on 25th June will highlight the case of Ferhat Gercek, a young Turkish man who was shot and seriously injured in 2008 while peacekeeping in Iraq. His case remains unresolved as nobody has been brought to justice. He is being supported by the Group in a long-term relationship. The stall is being held during Refugee Week and will also feature human rights abuses being experienced by those who have come to this country seeking sanctuary.

The Group welcomes the re-election of Kenny MacAskill, who has been supportive throughout his years as constituency MSP, and was the only candidate to respond to our letters about Scotland's stance on human rights in the run-up to 5th May.

Our annual coffee morning and book sale in March raised around £300, and was outstandingly valuable in the resulting social interactions, with the Woodcraft Folk again contributing to the liveliness of the event.

The Group meets on the third Monday of each month in Portobello Old Parish Church Hall at 7.30pm. Anyone may attend, without commitment. For further information call 669 1308.

David Turner
